Tokyo, 24 April 2014: At Narita Airport, we are continuing to improve the functions of our terminal facilities so that our customers can spend their time at the airport in greater comfort. This summer, a new capsule hotel, "nine hours", will open for overnight stays and day use.

The hotel is located on the first basement level of Car Park No. 2 (P2) complex with direct access to Terminal 2. From an overnight accommodation for those taking off on early-morning flights to a brief rest & shower (or even just a shower alone), it caters to every individual traveling style.

1. Opening date: Sunday, 20 July 2014
2. Location: Car Park No. 2 (P2) complex, B1F
3. Name: "nine hours" Narita Airport
4. Facilities: 129 capsule rooms (71 for men, 58 for women)
16 shower cubicles (7 for men, 9 for women)
Day-use and shower-only options available.
5. Hours: Open 365 days a year
(Reception/check-in available 24 hours)
6. Standard rates (Not including tax):
  - Overnight: 3,900 yen ~
(Check-out time: 10:00 a.m.)
  - Day use: 1,500 yen for the first hour
500 yen per hour thereafter
  - Shower: 1,000 yen (up to 1 hour)
 * Overnight and day-use customers can use the showers free of charge.
7. Operator: nine hours Inc. (Minato Ward, Tokyo)

* From Terminal 2 use the underground concourse or the second floor connecting corridor.

Reservations accepted from Monday, 28 April via the "nine hours" website and by email as well as telephone.
