

Parata Air to launch regular flights on the Narita <=>Seoul (Incheon) route starting from January 19, 2026!

Parata Air (IATA code: WE) has been operating charter flights on the Narita and Seoul (Incheon) route since November 17, 2025. It will begin operating regular flights on the same route starting from January 19, 2026.

Parata Air is an emerging airline offering services that transcend the traditional borders between low-cost carriers (LCCs) and full-service carriers (FSCs). For example, it features paid seating options with added value, such as priority boarding and priority baggage claim, while also offering a premium class that provides in-flight meals and lounge access.

Seoul, the capital of the Republic of Korea, is an attractive destination where tradition and trends converge, offering new discoveries with every visit. In recent years, the city has become home to more and more charming spots that attract people, in particular young people. For example, the "Starfield Library," located in Gangnam, Seoul, is a popular facility not only for reading but also as a photogenic spot, featuring a space lined with massive bookshelves reaching up to the ceiling. Another example is the Apgujeong area, boasting a high-end, full of sophisticated atmosphere as a site with a row of cafes having a classy ambiance. It has become a very popular spot in recent years.

With this new launch of Parata Air, Seoul, a city brimming with diverse attractive features, is now more conveniently accessible. We invite you to take advantage of the enhanced network at Narita Airport.
