

23 December 2019

Air China to Launch Narita – Hangzhou Service on 10 January 2020!

Air China (IATA code: CA) will launch a new service between Narita and Hangzhou on 10 January, 2020. Currently, Japanese airlines have been operating a daily flight on this route, the addition of Air China's new service will greatly improve the convenience of traveling to Hangzhou.

Hangzhou is the capital of Zhejiang province. At the city's center lies West Lake, a UNESCO World Heritage Site offering stunning twilight scenery. Hangzhou is also known for producing Longjing tea, a renowned Chinese green tea. Visitors can relax with a cup of Longjing tea at one of the many tea shops that dot the city.

Narita Airport will continue to expand its network to offer more convenient selection of flights and destinations. Please take advantage of Narita Airport's ever-growing flight service network, now even more with the Air China's Hangzhou service.

Hangzhou

- Launch Date : Friday, 10 January 2020
- Route : Narita-Hangzhou (China)
- Aircraft : A321 (Seat capacity : 185 total - 12 Business Class, 173 Economy Class)
- Flight Schedule : Four services per week (Mon, Wed, Fri, Sun)

| Flight Nos. | Origin                    | Departure Time | Destination               | Arrival Time |
|-------------|---------------------------|----------------|---------------------------|--------------|
| CA146       | Tokyo/Narita (NRT) | 20:30   | Hangzhou (HGH)            | 23:25        |
| CA145       | Hangzhou (HGH)            | 15:15          | Tokyo/Narita (NRT) | 19:30 |

Photo provided by Air China

*Services will operate from the Terminal 1 South Wing

*All times are local times

*Conditional upon government approval.

*Please note that schedules are subject to change without notice.