United Airlines to Launch New Narita – Ulaanbaatar and Narita – Kaohsiung Routes
Further enhancement of the Asia-Pacific network

United Airlines (UA) has launched new direct flight services between Narita and Ulaanbaatar (Mongolia) and will commence its services between Narita and Kaohsiung (Taiwan), starting from the flight schedule in the summer of 2025. These new routes will not only contribute to the expansion of business, tourism, and cultural exchange among Japan and Mongolia and Taiwan, but will also further enhance Narita Airport’s role as a hub with North America.

Ulaanbaatar, the capital of Mongolia, is a rapidly developing business city and also an attractive tourist destination where visitors can experience magnificent grasslands and nomadic culture. On the other hand, Kaohsiung, known as a vibrant port city, is a major city in the southern part of Taiwan and a popular tourist destination where visitors can enjoy culinary delights, art, and a warm climate.

United Airlines is scheduled to launch a new direct flight service from Narita to Koror (Palau), in addition to the service between Narita and Cebu, which started last year, and that between Narita and Ulaanbaatar and Narita and Kaohsiung this time. We invite you to take advantage of Narita Airport’s further expanded network with the enhanced network in the Asia-Pacific region offered by United Airlines.
